Rice Market Report

Italy: The market is very quiet, there is no work. Already last week, recovery week after the holidays, there was nothing to do. The rice mills had started to offer lower prices for paddy, while the farmers were sticking on their positions asking for pre-Christmas prices.

This week however some prices offered by the rice mills last week have become official in the price list of Vercelli. There is -€50/tm on the round rice paddy as well as on the long A. To see now, if the rice mills will really be able to buy at these prices and if so, what quantity?

Paddy Indica remains stable. However, the variety PVL 136 which is the variety that has been sown the most this year, is no longer accepted by any rice mill. It doesn't get mill well; it is very greasy and dirty all the machines. A major player in the market still offers €500/tm for the indica paddy, specifying nevertheless that it does not want PVL 136.

There is also a market player who is looking for every possible and imaginable excuse to refuse and therefore obtain a discount on the round paddy. Too much moisture, smell, infestations... Most likely to try to recover some money on paddy bought too expensively.
