Rice Market Report

Italy: The new crop rice seems to have suffered from the heat, it was still between 28-30 ° until the end of September, which is too hot for rice, especially the Superfini (Arborio, Carnaroli). It seems that the quality is not very good, stained grains, chalky grains. Low yields even very low were found on samples until last week, 48-51 for Arborio/Volano and for round 30-44. However, some improvements have been noted for both the Arborio/Volano and the round at Vercelli today. It must be noted that we are only at the beginning of the harvest and that the first batches are never very beautiful. It would take another 15 days to get a better idea of the quality of rice this year. There are very few available goods yet and farmers sell only the absolute minimum, the goods are very difficult to find. There is a lot of tension on the round paddy.

The general idea is that prices this year will probably all be higher than last year. This is already explained by the fact that the total area sown decreased by 4.5% and of course in a second time the quality of rice will also play a role.

There is no official list from the different markets.
