

Rice Market Report

Italy: This week only Vercelli's market officially listed one single paddy rice variety the Indica at a price of €300/MT. However, it would seem that the reality is a little different and that it would be sold between €310/MT and €320/MT. Yesterday at Novara market it was €310/MT with a 90-days payment and €320/MT with a 120-days payment.

Very few samples were seen on the market, the few ones of round grain were not nice with a low yield of approx. 53/kg but those are the first ones so it is not representative of the whole crop.

At the beginning of the week, we were hoping that the farmers would cut on Monday but unfortunately, it seems that rain is expected next week for the whole week. This could change the forecast for paddy prices in the blink of an eye, especially for Indica.

Taking into account what has been said above, the prices in the following tables, prices obtained during the week, generally for small quantities and for short loading term, are indicative. We will have to wait until a large part of the new crop rice is cut to have a better idea of the prices.
