Rice Market Report

Italy: Prices continue to fall officially, but exchanges are still limited, and it is not easy for rice mills to acquire raw materials at listed prices. To do this, they must have time in front of them and not have to cover themselves on the prompt.

Some farmers are not happy at all with these low prices and start looking for silos to store the paddy and carry it over to the new crop.

Still no news regarding the forecasts of sown areas for the new crop.

By-product prices for Mezzagrana and Corpetto/Coprettone increased slightly. They seem to be more sought after.
