Rice Market Report

Italy: The market has become very complicated. Prices continue to fall officially. However, the reality is a little different. We have reached a point where farmers refuse to sell paddy below a price, they consider too low. The prices have been changed in the listings but there are only limited exchanges.

On the rice milling side, it seems that for the milled rice market it has become more of a buyer's market. In the sense that the most important thing is to find a customer interested in buying something, then we talk about the price and try to find a suitable agreement for both parties.

For 2 weeks the prices of by-products have remained stable. There seems to be more supply than demand.
