Rice Market Report

Italy: New crop paddies are not available right now. Farmers just started harvesting this week, with Indica's varieties. We don't have much information so far about quality and quantities.

It is still very hard to understand the price levels. Sometimes we have huge price differences between the suppliers. It depends if the rice mills have paddy in house, if so when they buy it or on the contrary if they should try to buy it on the current market.

By-product prices increased slightly around mid of September and seems to be stable since.
